What is Urology?

Urology is the surgical speciality that focuses on the urinary tract of males and females, and on the reproductive system of males. Medical professionals specializing in the field of urology are called Urologists and are trained to diagnose, treat, and manage patients with urological disorders. The organs covered by urology are kidneys, ureters, urinary bladder, urethra, and male reproductive organs.

A urologist manages benign and malignant medical and surgical disorders of the genitourinary system and the adrenal glands.

Our three urologists and physician extender offer comprehensive urology services in a relaxed, friendly environment. Our Board Certified physicians are continuously advancing their specializing training in the field of urology, and our clinical staff is highly trained in the implementation of your diagnostic studies and procedures.

Each member of our team is committed to providing you the highest quality care and responding to your concerns in a timely manner.

Lumberton Urology Clinic offers a full range of urological services from diagnosing your condition to providing the treatments that you need. For your convenience, we have provided you with helpful information about our services. During your visit, you may need one or more of the tests or procedures provided in our office.
